Jesus: The Human v the Christology, by Rev. Martin Woulfe

On this Easter Sunday, let us consider how the narrative of Yoshua of Nazareth has changed during the past two millennia, and consider the relationship between his teachings and theological reflection.

Radical Hospitality, by Rev. Michelle LaGrave

Rev. LaGrave, the minister of the UU Fellowship of Decatur, will conduct a pulpit exchange with Rev. Woulfe on this Sunday. She writes, "Radical Hospitality is a spiritual practice that requires an inward shift of the self to welcome in the other. How can we engage this practice in our UU congregations?"

Skin in the Game, by Rev. Scott Aaseng,

Executive Director, Unitarian Universalist Advocacy Network of Illinois (UUANI)

Working for justice can sometimes seem like a matter of giving up what we want and acting entirely for the sake of others. But is there a way of looking at action for justice as something in which we have a stake in what happens – with our own skin in the game?

There will be a Potluck after the service—bring a dish to share!

There will also be a Pathways to Membership session.

Earth Day Service, by Vern LaGesse, Friends of Sangamon Valley

For our Earth Day service, Vern LaGesse will bring an awareness of the value and beauty of the natural world around us in support of our 7th Principle of "Respecting the Web of Nature of which we are a part."

Theological Reflections on "Thoughts & Prayers", by Rev. Martin Woulfe

We've heard the phrase dozens of times, perhaps more, especially after appalling man-made tragedies. Once they may have offered a modicum of comfort, but to many, especially now, these words are as likely to cause offense. Do only politicians say these words, or do mourners and ministers still recite them? What is the theological understanding implicit in such a phrase? Might these words still carry comfort in some situations, or is it time to retire them altogether?

When UUs Face Death, by Rev. Martin Woulfe

In this service, Rev. Woulfe will explore the attitudes of real people whom he has known over the years as death approached. Is there a uniquely UU "way of dying?" How do our choices differ from other faiths? Is there a significant difference in a Celebration of Life from a memorial or funeral service?
