Faith Without Fear, by Rev. Martin Woulfe

Some had argued that the foundation of all religion is fear. Is this accurate, or does UUism offer a different path and practice?

Women and Film-Making: A Song for Manzanar, by Kazuko Golden and Yosh Golden

Kazuko Golden, producer and director of A Song for Manzanar, will describe her experiences with the Hollywood film industry, perceptions of a gendered marketplace, the actress crisis of income inequality, reasons that women in Hollywood appear to lack ambition, and the gender imbalance among industry gatekeepers.

There will be a special ALUUC Picnic at 3:00pm at Choice Roots Farm.

The Blessings of Animals, by Rev. Martin Woulfe

On this Sunday, we will celebrate our bonds with the many animals in our lives. What can we learn from our animal companions? How are our lives changed? What does science reveal about their relationships with one another and us – and how might all of these influence our understanding of the interconnected web of all existence?

Undocumented Immigrants and DACA: Who Are Our Dreamers?, by Veronica Espina

Veronica Espina, UIS Instructor and member of the Springfield Coalition on Dismantling Racism and Springfield Dominican Anti-Racism Team, will talk about the latest immigration policy decisions and their impact on the community.

A Potluck will follow the service—all are welcome! Please bring a dish to share.

There will also be a Pathways Session following the service.

To Protest and to Reform: Yesterday, Today & Tomorrow, by Rev. Martin Woulfe

Religious Liberals have a long history of being “the Protestants’ Protestants.” How has this legacy shaped our tradition, and what is our relationship with the faith traditions of this nation and the world?

The service will include a New Member Ceremony.

After the service will be our Annual Costume parade in the Sanctuary. Children and adults alike are invited to wear their Halloween costumes, and adults can pass out candy.

Creation Stories, by Rev. Martin Woulfe

Many of us are aware of at least one creation story, composed many millennia ago. As the West’s contact with various civilizations increased, many more creation stories became known to us. What do these say about our relationship to one another and to this world? Is there a shared sense of sacredness?

“Change for Change” Sunday collection.
