A Time, A Place, A People: The Spirit of the Labor Movement

Susan Solon, Member International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers

The Labor movement's past and the present from a personal perspective. Susan's talk will be grounded in the rust belt and will be sad, anthemic, and rock-n-roll! And it will end on a high note.

Water & Stone Communion

Rev. Martin Woulfe

Bring a stone or a sample of water to share, along with a spiritual insight. If you forget, not to worry - we will have spare stones & water for your use.

The Truth About Religious Freedom

The phrase "Religious Freedom" has surged into the national headlines during the past year and gained traction among conservative representatives of several faith traditions. What do they mean by "freedom?" How does this compare with the UU definition of the same? How does this congregation embody and promote the liberal religious understanding?

All are invited to stay after the service for our 65th Anniversary Celebration.

Welcoming the Stranger

Pastor Silas Johnson, Calvary Missionary Baptist Church

On this Sunday, Pastor Johnson & Rev. Woulfe will visit each other's faith community and preach on a common theme: Welcoming the Stranger. Both ministers agree that this theme was essential within the Jewish and Christian Scriptures - and remains highly relevant in our own time.

Vote Your Values

Shelly Heideman, Executive Director Faith Coalition for the Common Good

During this electoral season, Shelly Heideman will explore several values that are central to our Unitarian Universalist identity: active participation and representative democracy. In her presentation, Ms. Heideman will explain why building relationships with voters is so important and why it is vital for eligible voters to become engaged with the issues, and how these relationships encourage them to turn out.

The Involvement Expo will follow the service

The Spiritual Discovery of America

In recent decades, there has been a profound re-evaluation of the European "discovery" of North and South America. The "Doctrine of Discovery" gave Europeans the right to claim territory that was already inhabited and to impose their culture, values and religion upon those inhabitants. What is the current UU view of that "Doctrine?" How does our understanding inform our appreciation and contact with other cultures and religions?
